John updates economy for '17

John DeDoncker, Triumph Community Bank, opened his 2017 Update on the Economy by noting proudly that he had come close on most of his year-ago predictions – saying the one that made him the happiest was the prediction that the Cubs would win the World Series.

Accompanied by a collection of Power-Point slides to show trends for each category, John reported the current status of many economic indicators. His observations included:

→Gross Domestic Product of about $19 trillion a year, rising last year and for the last several years at about a 2% rate. At some $5.5 trillion, consumer spending is the largest component of GDP – within that, non-store retail is rising at a fast 12% while in-store retail is declining, he pointed out.

→The Core Inflation Index, now inching above 2%, has prompted the Federal Reserve to raise the prime rate 0.25 point three times within the last year.

→Unemployment dropped to 4.7% nationally, equating to about 7.5 million people still actively looking for work. Real wages finally came close to those of 2009, John said, and the participation rate of workers ages 16-63 inched up to 63% – the pre-recession level was 66%. While Iowa has a 3.5% unemployment rate, Illinois' stands at 6%.

→The Index of Supply Managers stands at 57.7, “highest in 3-4 years,” he said.

→Housing starts, historically fluctuating about 1.5 million, climbed to about 1.25 million in 2016, he said. Within that, about a fourth are housing structures with 5 or more units, and single-unit houses account for a declining percentage. Existing homes, at 1.8 million, are at the lowest number since about 2000, he said.

→Among indices of optimism, John reported the University of Michigan’s Consumer Sentiment Index stands at about 100 (and heading up, and the small Business Optimism Index “is as positive as it’s been in a long time.”

→Among other economic indicators: Commodity prices remain low. National debt has topped $19 trillion, and it’s still growing, but low interest rates keep the debt’s interest expense at about 2010 levels. Government spending accounts for about 20% of the economy. Average personal savings rate is about 8%.

Summing up, John said the U.S. remains “the only bright economy” in the world. With the current favorable exchange rate, he added, “This could be a great summer for a European vacation.”

As for his predictions for the next year:

- Growth: 3.5%
- Consumer Price Index: 2.5%
- Prime Interest Rate: 4.5%
- 10-year bond rate: 3%
- Unemployment: 4.5%
- Dow-Jones Average: >21000
- World Series: “probably not a Cubs repeat...”

Presentation...

→Rotarian of the Month: For his ongoing work in Youth Services, Jim Spelhaug received the quarterly award from Vocational Service Chair Richard “Ozzy” Oswald. Bettendorf Rotary’s annual service to the community’s youth includes scholarships to graduates of Bettendorf and Pleasant Valley high schools, Rivermont Collegiate and Scott Community College, and the donation of a personal dictionary to each 4th grade pupil in the City of Bettendorf.

Announcements...

→ District 6000 meeting in QC April 6:

The leadership and members from many District 6000 clubs are meeting Thursday, April 6, beginning with dinner at 6 p.m. All Rotarians are welcome – this is an opportunity to meet Rotarians from other Iowa clubs.

→ Rotary Row at Faye's Field:

President Jonna Schuler said work will begin May 1 on installation of sets of chimes that visitors to Rotary Row at Faye's Field can play as they walk along the path in this feature of the Learning Campus. The chimes will be dedicated (as part of the kickoff of Iowa Tourism Month) at 10 a.m. Friday, May 5.

→ New member project: President

Jonna thanked Rick Bormann for his quick work signing up new-member volunteers for the "Betten-Do" project – renovation of the deck just outside our meeting room at Tanglewood Pavilion. The project will take place in two phases: starting about 3:30 p.m. Friday, April 28, finishing about 1 p.m. Sunday, April 30.

→ If you have a birthday, invite a friend: As she has each first-of-month meeting, President Jonna reminded those with April birthdays to invite a friend / prospective member to attend a meeting this month as your guest.

→ LobsterFest off to a fast start: Secretary Johanna Smith announced that sponsorship is growing at a very good rate, but, of course, "We'll welcome any that still want to sign on as sponsors."

Tickets are now on sale – at $75 per seat / $520 per table of 8. They'll be available at meetings or at bettendorffrotary.com.

There's still time to donate raffle / silent auction items that can be assembled in gift baskets. Contact Gwen Tombergs (gtombergs@quadcitieschamber.com) or Ann Kappeler (Annkappeler1950@gmail.com).
